What we preach we practice.

Our advertisement is an echo from our counters. An echo, however, is only an attenuation. Nothing can quite atone for the absence of the original.

Reading about the Alps isn't quite as good as being there. It is like the dinner eaten last night by the friend who shows us the menu. And similarly, we cannot quite convey here all the inherent virtues of Saks Clothes for Men.

And we don't propose to parody those virtues on the back of an impossible Apollo, smoking a pipe and looking seaward, with a bull pup at his heels.

Saks clothes do not depend for their individuality upon pictorial accessories, and they don't need a pen and ink artist to make them fit. We keep tailors for that purpose. And we fit every man who comes to us, whether he is a former client or a skeptic.

The Saks tailoring organization is unquestionably without a superior. It brings to its work an individnality of style that very few made-to-order tailors can equal. And it permits no garment to leave its shops that does not conform in every particular to that perfection of detail which identifies Saks clothes,

The Courtly Age Of Louis XV.

> TARDLY need one call on the imagination to picture a social gathering in the days when Louis XV. held Court at Versailles.

> Gone, beyond recall, are the haughty women with their powder and their patches and the men with their jewelled snuff-boxes. But, thanks to our careful Reproductions, there may still be seen the tapestried Bergeres, with carved and gilded frames, in which they sat, the inlaid Tables at which they played their Lansquenet or Piquet, or the Chaises Longues on which they reclined.

> By these, too, may be brought into our own rooms a breath of the urbanity of that courtly age.

With the Victor You Command the Greatest Voices in the World

Fancy yourself this evening, in your own home listening to the most famous singers of the operatic stage.

Think of what it would mean to you to hear-at any time and as often as you likethe magmificent music of the grand opera interpreted by such artists as Farrar, Caruso, Melba, Sembrich, Eames and others equally prominent.

This rare form of entertainment begins with the purchase of a Victor. For this wonderful instrument brings to you the voices of these artists, in all their power, brilliancy and beauty. So lifelike is the Victor's reproduction that you instinctively feel the presence of the singer With this same degree of naturalness, the Victor renders a hit by such comedy stars as Blanche Ring or Clarice Vance, a laughable monologue by some well-known vaudeville performer, or a selection overflowing with the spirit of minstrelsy,
